Deadlock in the Oakland Congressional Convention.

the Gathering Adjourned.

OAKLAND, Md., September 9, 1896. The republican convention of the sixth Maryland district met promptly at 3 o'clock this afternoon after the recess.

Mr. R. W. McMichael, chairman of the committee on credentials and permanent organization, submitted a report recommending that the temporary officers be also chosen the permanent officers for the convention. The report was unanimously Mr. McMichael also reported the follow county the majority of the committee on credentials had, after giving the subject as much consideration as the time at their feated. disposal would admit, with great regret arrived at the conclusion that the scenes attending the meeting of the convention in that county when delegates to the present convention were said to have been elected were so disgraceful and such a blot upon the good name of the republican party, not only of the county and the congressional district, but of the state, that both delegations ought to be excluded from participation in the business of the body.

Mr. Marion Dorian of Montgomery county submitted a minority report, and in doing so said he agreed with his colleagues of the committee that the scenes at the Frederick county convention were disgraceful in the extreme, but he thought the republicans of that county were entitled to be represented in the convention, and he thought that the contesting delegations should be admitted and each member be given half a vote. Mr. Milton G. Urner of Frederick county, leader of the Motter delegation, made an earnest speech against the adoption of the minority report, on the ground that he and his colleagues were either entitled to seats Mr. W. E. Gettinger, leader of the Haff-the adoption of the minority report, which, he said, was offered in the interest of harmony and compromise. He thought it bet-ter to have half a leaf than no loaf at all, and he again strongly urged that the report be adopted. After some further remarks by several of the delegates the minority report was Urner and His Followers Leave. Mr. Urner said he was instructed by the members of his delegation to decline to remain in the convention under the circumwished to assure the delegates that who-ever would be nominated by them as the standard bearer of the party would receive the hearty support of the entire republican for his expressions of good will, but de-clared that as he and those with him felt that they were the legally elected delegates to the convention from Frederick county, and that as the convention had voted to also admit the Haffner delegation, they could not remain in the convention any longer.

As the retiring delegates were leaving the hall Mr. Gettinger jumped on a chair and shouted, "Let them go. Bolting is fashionable this year!"

Nomination of Candidates. As the committee on resolutions, which had been in session in another part of the building, was not yet ready to report, it was voted to proceed with the nominations vention would proceed no further with its tusiness until the committee's report was received and disposed of.

received and disposed of.

The roll of counties was then called. Mr.
David E. Dick of Allegany nominated Col.
George A. Pearre of Cumberland; Mr. W. E.
Gettinger of Frederick nominated Dr. S. T.
Haffner; Mr. A. F. George of Garrett nomirated Dr. Robert A. Ravenscroft; Gen. Allan G. Rutherford of Montgomery nominated Capt. John E. McDonald, and Mr. H. S. Cook of Washington nominated Mr. A.

R. Hagner.

The cheir announced that under the rules of the party organization Allegany county was entitled to 6 votes, Frederick to 3, Garrett to 3, Montgomery to 4 and Washington

At this point the committee on resolu-tions returned to the hall, and Mr. C. J. Orrick, the chairman, read the following resolutions, which were adopted by an unanimous vote:

The Platform.

"Resolved, by the republicans of the sixth congressional district of Maryland, in convention assembled. That we indorse the republican administration of the state.

and the pure election laws passed by the late republican legislature.

"We reaffirm our allegiance to the great national republican party and its principles as enunciated in the platform adopted at St. Louis in June last, and congratulate the American people that they have an opportunity offered them to forever stamp out all degrees and forms of anarchy, pop-ulism and repudiation by casting their votes in November next for McKinley and

The balloting for a congressional candidate was then begun, and the result of the first roll call showed that each candidate had received the votes of the delegates from his own county, as follows: Pearre, Allegany, 6: Haffner, Frederick, 3; Ravens-croft, Garrett, 3; McDonald, Montgomery, 4; Hagner, Washington, 5. There being no choice, the roll call was again made, and proceeded continuously until sixty-five ballots were taken, when the result of each roll call being the same as the first, and the hour having arrived when the hall had to be vacated because it was engaged for he evening by a theatrical troupe, recess was taken until 7 o'clock.

At the latter hour the convention reassembled at Offutt's Hall, and the delegates continued to vote until 250 ballots were taken, when effort was made, without result for Mr. Cottlings of Fraderick to sult, by Mr. Gettinger of Frederick to stampede the convention to A. G. Sturgis of Garrett county. During the balloting, several motions were made and defeated to take a recess, to adjourn to meet in Frederick and Hagerstown, and for other purposes of a minor character, but all except a vote of thanks to the ladles of Oakland for decorating the hall where the convention decorating the hall where the convention met, during the afternoon, which was adopted by an unanimous vote, were de-feated by a large majority.

The Deadlock. After 260 ballots were taken, Gen. Ailan G. Rutherford of Montgomery county rese and said he would like to ask "how long this miserable farce is to last?" and he moved that the convention adjourn to meet one week hence in Rockville.

The motion was not seconded, and a numper of delegates called out, "We have come here to nominate; let us stay here until we do if it takes all night."

The Frederick County Delegates.

Mr. McMichael said that in reference to the contesting delegates from Frederick county the majority of the committee on credentials had, after giving the subject as contesting as the time at their second county the majority of the committee on credentials had, after giving the subject as the contesting as the time at their second county the majority of the committee on credentials had, after giving the subject as the contesting the contesting the subject as the contesting the contest

Adjourned Until Today.

After the 395th baffot and there being no prospect of the deadlock being broken, Mr. Gettinger of Frederick, who had for several hours led the opposition to taking any recess, arose and said: "There is a time when the human frame gives way. I have said here tonight that I intended to fight said here tonight that I intended to fight it out on this line if it takes all summer, but I have gone back on that, and I now move that the convention takes a recess until tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock."

The motion was seconded by General Rutherford, and upon r roil call by counties was adopted, whereupon President Cook, at once declared the convention adjourned until the hour named.

Charel Point, the pretty summer resort in Charles county, Md., about sixty miles below Washington, will be closed after below Washington, will be closed after Sunday next, when the steamer Pentz will make the last trip of the season there. The Point has had a most successful season. The Hotel Belle View has been comfortably filled with guests from the opening of the season, and now that cool weather is come, they are loth to depart. Next Sunday the steamer Pentz will leave her wharf here at 9:45, and Alexandria at 10:15, and will arrive at the beach in time to give five hours for boating, crabbing standard bearer of the party would the hearty support of the entire republican party in Frederick county. Mr. Urner and his colleagues then aros: to leave the convention hall, and as they were about to retire President Cook urged them to reconsider the step; that he deplored the step they were about to take and entreated they were about to take and entreated.

Next Sunday the stable, and Alexandria at the beach in time to give five hours for boating, crabbing and fishing. Chris. Arth, jr.'s full orchestra will be in attendance, and will furnish sacred music, both on the steamer and on the grounds.

The River View excursion season, which cpened the 26th of April, was brought to a close with the excursion of the Interstate Democratic Association last night. The season has been a fairly successful one considering the hardness of the times, and Capt. Randall, the proprietor of the resort, is greatly pleased, not only from a financial point of view, but because the prople of Washington and Alexandria have shown that they appreciate his efforts by shown that they appreciate his efforts by their large attendance on the personally conducted Wednesday, Saturday and Sun-day trips. Since the season opened the record of attendance shows that 152,000 persons, in round numbers, have visited River View, and that of this number fully persons, in round numbers, have visited River View, and that of this number fully 130,000 "shot the chute," and enjoyed the fun. This immense number of people was handled without a single accident and the best of order was preserved on both the steamer and grounds. During the coming winter months both the steamer Pentz and the View grounds will be given a thorough overhauling and Capt. Randall now has in his office the plans for an amusement to be erected during the coming spring at a cost of $16,000 that will throw the chute completely in the shade as a mirth provoker. Capt. Harry Randall, who, by the way, is the youngest steamboat captain on the Potomac, has had command of the steamer Pentz throughout the season, and by his skill and courtesy has won golden opinions from every one who traveled on the boat. Capt. Randall's Potomac river line comes in for a share of commendation. During the past year the steamer Harry Randall, under the command of the veteran seaman, Capt. Barker, has sprung into favor as a freight and passenger boat, and the business of the line is constantly increasing. Three trips per week are made to the river landings as far down as Maddox creek.

Phillies Nearly Won, the First Game With Washington.

HAD A SUDDEN BATTING STREAK

Exciting Finish to a Game Full of Hitting.

SPORTS IN GENERAL

hard hitters from Philadelphia began to hit Mercer's slow drops yesterday afternoon at National Park, and in three innings had batted out seven runs and all but tied the game. But Selbach accurately judged Huen's drive, and after a sharp run captured it and possibly saved the home team from lefeat. It was a free-hitting game and one that pleased the old-timers. There was little excitement except in the last inning, for the home team took the lead and kept it to the last. But the long files, the sharp drives and the ground scorchers that were secured off each pitcher kept the contes full of interest. It was very patchwork playing-very good and awfully bad. Old Sam Thompson never played any better. He leaned over the wire fence in front of the right field bleachers and gathered in a hit that had all the marks of a home run. Then Cooley took a desperate chance on a short fly and caught it within an inch of the ground after a hard run. Brown's boys protested that he had made a pick up, but Umpire Lynch explained that the grass was long and that it was a fair out. Lajole, the Phillies' first baseman, may be a "find" with the bat, but he fielded his position like an automaton. When the ball was hit or thrown in his direction he was completely at sea and shipwrecked. What were meant for sacrifice bunts proved to be safe hits, and being followed by hard drives were turned into runs.

Then the home players were seized with a sudden fondness for big Buck Orth's straight ones, and before they tired they had accumulated twelve runs. Mercer and had accumulated twelve runs. Mercer and Farrell had smiles a yard wide, and little Wrigley on the coaching lines grew very. kittenish. In fact, the whole team seemed on good terms with themselves. The visitors couldn't do a thing with Mercer's slow ones. Either they punched out or hit files into the air that were easy. Grady's arm was away off, and he couldn't nail a runner or catch a man he couldn't nail a runner or catch a man at the plate. The spectators, not many, to be sure, or ly 800, but loyal to the last man, enjoyed the situation amazingly. When Lave Cross shouted to Lajole, "You take it, Lahzhooway!" the merry onlookers yelled to him to say it again. "Can't," replied Cross, and there was a laugh. But the cannonading that opened in the eighth and continued in the ninth chased away all the merriment. The sun went behind a cloud, the laughing ceased, the air grew chilly and the end was awaited with universal anxiety. There was a loud shout of relief when Hulen's drive sculed in Selbach's hands and the game was saved. Score:

warlike, the citizens were assured that no narm was meant, and nobody's pumpkin or turnip patch was molested.

Mr. Thomas Beavers and Miss Betty Caton were married Tuesday afternoon by Rev. C. K. Millican at the parsonage. The bride was beautifully dressed in green, trimmed in white, with white gloves and slippers. These are the same parties who attempted to get married here last Tuesday week. Failing here, they went to Fails Church, but they met with no better luck there. One of the ministers whom they called upon was too sick to perform the ceremony, another had gone to bed and refused to get up. They then became discouraged, as the hour was getting late. He drove to the home of his affianced, where he left her, promising to call upon her Sunday, to see if she was still of the same mind, and if so to make further arrangements. He kept his promise, and she had not changed her mind, so they decided to make another attempt Tuesday, which proved successful.
